Russian, East European, Eurasian, & Soviet Studies Minor Planning Guide

The Minor consists of seven (7) courses in Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies, at least four (4) of which must be upper division. In addition, there must be at least one course each from two of the three following areas: Literature, History, and Social Science. No more than three of the seven courses may be language courses. Knowledge of the language is not a requirement for the minor, but is strongly recommended.

Seven upper division electives, at least one course each from two of the following three areas: Literature, History, and Social Sciences (Sociology or Political Science). A list of approved courses may be viewed on the Russian, East European, Eurasian, & Soviet website under the “Courses” tab and in the online course catalog. Courses not listed that offer at least 50% related content may be petitioned.

☐ Elective (Area 1) ________________________________________________________________

☐ Elective (Area 2) ________________________________________________________________

☐ Elective (may be a language course) ______________________________________________

☐ Elective (may be a language course) ______________________________________________

☐ Elective (may be a language course) ______________________________________________

☐ Elective ________________________________________________________________________

☐ Elective ________________________________________________________________________

Up to three lower division language courses may be counted toward the minor. For Russian language placement testing contact the Literature Department undergraduate advisor. Other languages may also be acceptable by petition.

☐ LTRU 1A First Year Russian or equivalent  ☐ LTRU 2A Second Year Russian or equivalent

☐ LTRU 1B First Year Russian or equivalent  ☐ LTRU 2B Second Year Russian or equivalent

☐ LTRU 1C First Year Russian or equivalent  ☐ LTRU 2C Second Year Russian or equivalent

Education Abroad Program (EAP)/Opportunities Abroad Program (OAP)-The program has not established a maximum number of courses that may be petitioned from EAP/OAP.

updated 6/2013